Foreword

Traditions play an important part in every school, but each school has its own particular customs. Beaver High School is no exception. Each November, when our football team meets the Rochester Rams, another game is added to the chain which spans over forty years. Hand in hand with this game go the Old Oaken Bucket, and the classic Rocky pep meeting. The design for our class rings is a tradition dating back to 1941, and a twenty-three-year-old tradition, Mayday, was culminated this year. The name "Shingas" itself is a tradition which was started in the 1920's. Before that, it was simply called the "Annual".

The tradition which most affects and identifies Beaver High however, is that of the Bobcat. Not only is Bobcat a name for our football team, but it also is the symbol of our school spirit—enthusiasm, independence, and pride.

It has only been during the last seven years that these ideals have been given tangible form. This came about in the creation of the live Bobcat; and even though he is only a senior boy in a furry gray suit, he is the symbol of all that the tradition of the Bobcat stands for.

Six boys have thus far served as Bobcat. The first was Dan Edgar, who was Bobcat in 1959 and 1960. Then in succession came Dave Shoup, Jim Hagarman, Bob Heddleston, Dave Morton, and Dave Sebastian.

The tradition of the Bobcat has figured heavily in the cover of this year's Shingas. On the back cover is a raised picture of the Bobcat, the symbol of Beaver High School. Our lives for the past three years have revolved around this symbol and it is with great pride that we present it upon this, the 1965 SHINGAS.

Dedicated to:

Throughout our years in high school, we students come in contact with many teachers; a few of whom we will remember all of our lives for their leadership, their originality, and their inspiration. These few have managed to stop us on our merry way and give us something to think about—an ideal to achieve—a goal to reach. Such has been the inspiration of the person to whom we wish to dedicate our Shingas.

Our selection this year is a teacher who was born near Bristol in Scott County, Virginia. She attended Pocahontas High School where her father was principal. She maintained a straight-A average and served as a cheerleader and president of her senior class. When she was seventeen, her mother died and she was left to care for a younger brother and three younger sisters while commuting to Virginia Intermont College in Bristol. From there she went to Richmond Polytechnic Institute where she majored in pharmacy. She met her husband, who was stationed in a Virginia naval camp, and transferred to Geneva College to continue her education—this time in chemistry. She and her husband have been living in Beaver since 1955. They have two young sons, Jim and Tom, and are looking forward to another addition in the very near future.

Her interests are many and varied. While her greatest enthusiasm centers in her teaching, her school spirit is felt very deeply and her pep and encouragement support our teams in defeat or victory. Another interest is in the field of music, where she enjoys playing the piano. Her performance in teacher-science programs attended during summer vacations has earned her high honors.

She is a conscientious teacher who has the rare capability of presenting chemistry as the challenge of a new adventure which leads to a worthwhile future.

It is with great respect and admiration that we, the class of 1965, dedicate our Shingas to

Mrs. Betty Sue Schaughency

In Appreciation

It is virtually impossible to acknowledge everything Mr. Paterick does for the Shingas. No one else knows the intricacies of printing, engraving, deadlines, and dummies as well as he. Each year he helps the staff create a yearbook from a rough draft. Then he supervises all the adding, subtracting, cutting, and pasting of the book, until its often frantic final send-off. We would like to give our thanks to Mr. Paterick for guiding us through this, his twenty-sixth Shingas.

Senior Sponsor

In the years ahead, when each member of this year's Senior Class remembers his last year at Beaver High School, we will all have a different memory to cherish. Among these things will be the senior dance, the Shingas, and the senior candy sale. When we recall these events, we are sure to think of Mr. Thomas Cochran, the Senior class sponsor. Mr. Cochran has given unselfishly of his time to make our Senior year the success it has been and the wonderful memory that it will surely be to us all.

It is with great pleasure that we stop here and say to you, Mr. Cochran: thanks for a job well done!

Sophomore Sponsor

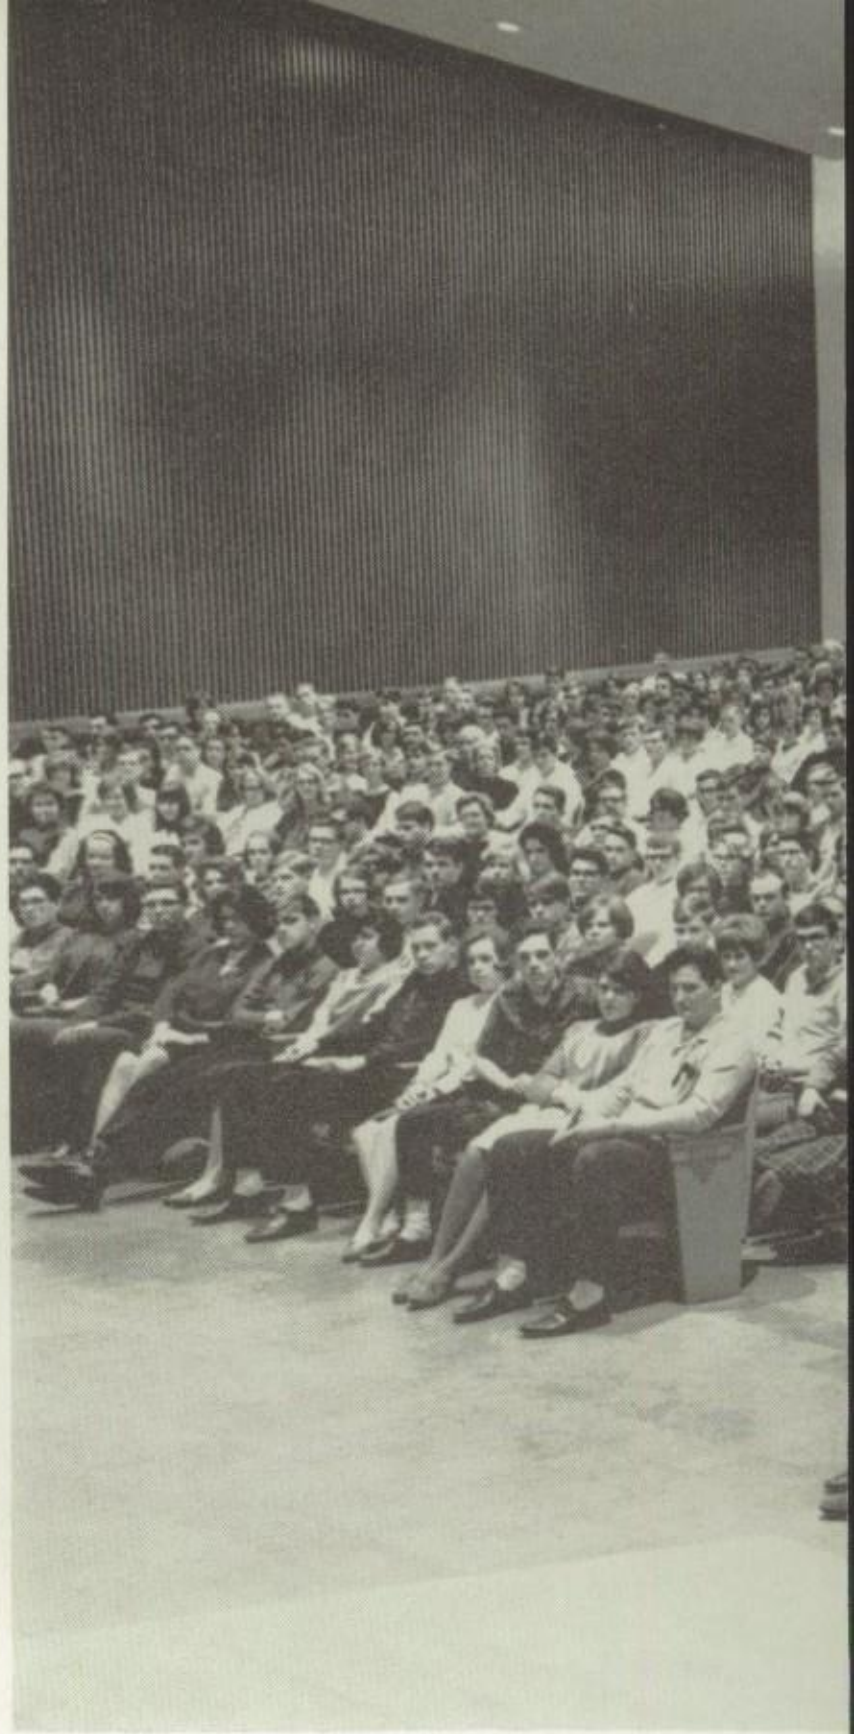

This year's sophomore class sponsor was Mr. Anthony Cantelmi. He guided the sophs in the planning of the highly successful football dance, "Twilight Touchdown," and always had a ready ear for their problems. Mr. Cantelmi's academic duties are the teaching of Mechanical Drawing I and II, senior business English, and Metal Shop.

Junior Sponsors

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Betty Sue Schaughency and Mr. Bruce Webb, the junior class had a very successful year. Through the efforts of every member, the class topped all previous records in magazine sales. Mrs. Schaughency and Mr. Webb guided the class through their main project, the prom, which was a delight and a headache for all concerned, entailing hours of planning, preparation, and hard work. The Class of 1965 wishes the juniors much success in their final year at Beaver High School, and thanks Mrs. Schaughency and Mr. Webb for helping to make this junior class one of the most successful.

Faculty

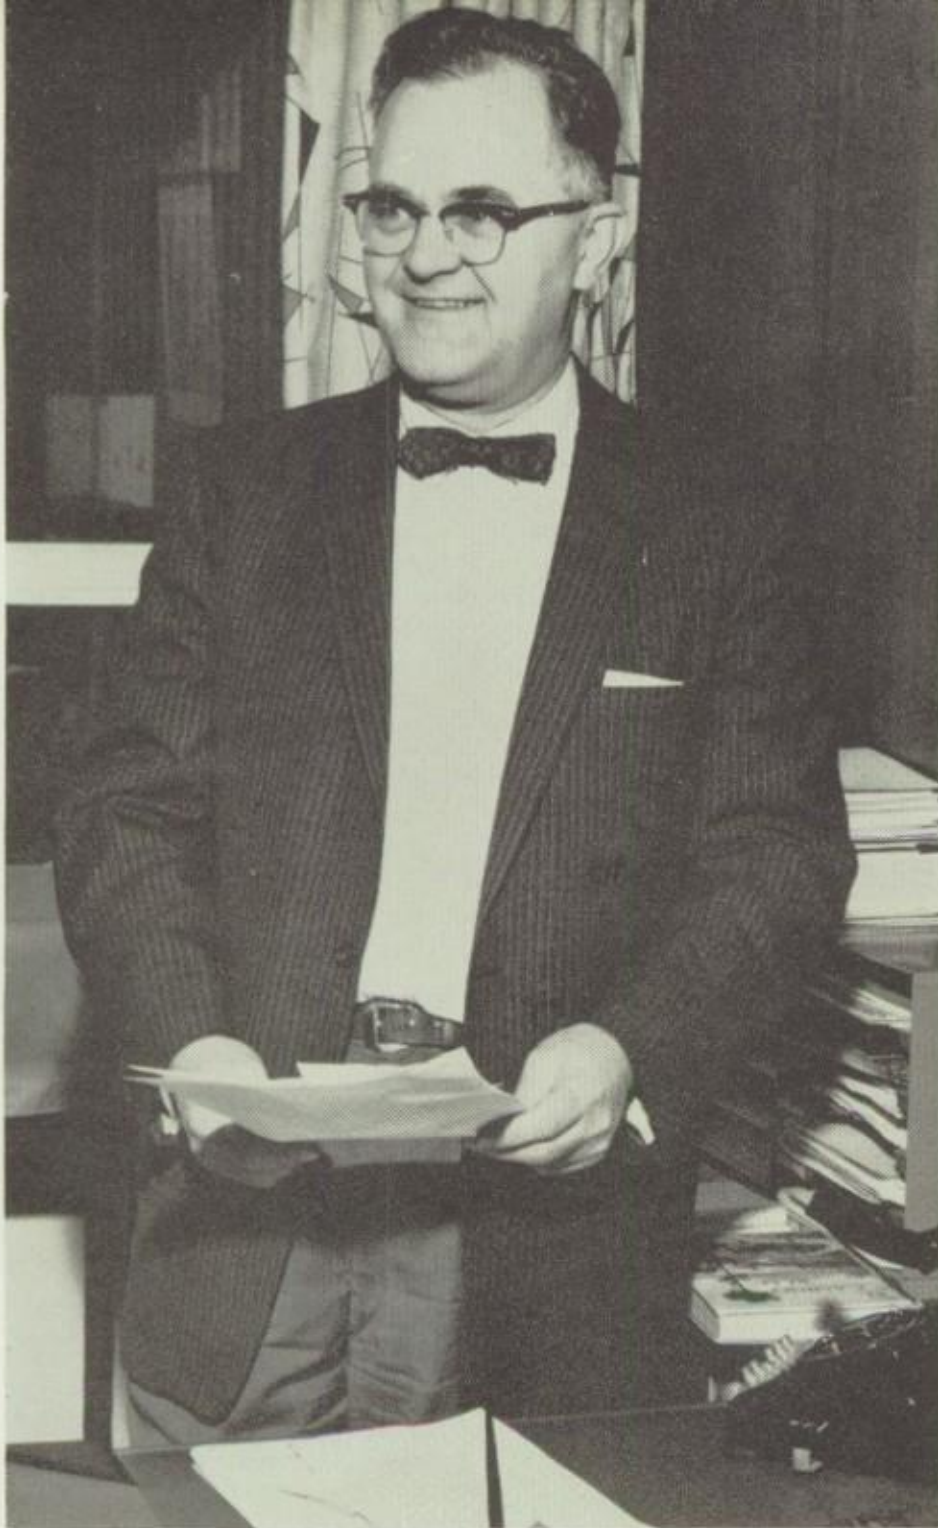

The tasks involved in operating a school system as large as Beaver's are countless. It is the duty of Dr. Chandler B. McMillan to co-ordinate these activities under one efficient organization. Although he is rarely seen at any of the schools, he is always behind the scenes working tirelessly. Whether he is planning a program to improve the schools or investigating new educational procedures, he ceaselessly endeavors to make a system of unexcelled quality. We, the class of 1965, feel that thus far he has succeeded admirably in his purpose. In this space, we would like to publicly express our appreciation for the education he has made available to us.

DR. C. B. McMILLAN

MISS RUTH JOHNSTON

Dr. William L. Charlesworth

The principal of a high school is regarded as its backbone. No other person in the school has as much responsibility and authority. Dr Charlesworth has endeavored to make Beaver High School the best school in the county, with admirable results.

It is common knowledge that this year was an important one to our school. On March 16, 17, and 18, our school was evaluated by a team of educators from all over the state. The guiding hand behind this evaluation was Dr. Charlesworth. He served as general chairman and organizer, calling very frequent meetings to check processes, functions, and results. The credit for overseeing the punctual completion of the massive self-evaluation also goes to him. In addition to these behind-the-scenes duties, he played host to the evaluating team during their stay here.

We of the senior class wish to commend him for a most successful and rewarding year.

MRS. LOIS HAGERTY

Mr. Donald Higbee

Be it a hole-in-one, a burned out projection bulb, a football or basketball game, you will always find Mr. Higbee on the scene. He heads our audio-visual aids department. In his greatest capacity as assistant principal, Mr. Higbee endeavors to give us a good set of moral values. To him go our sincere thanks.

"This is Mr. Higbee calling from the high school . . ."

MRS. VIRGINIA HAWKINS

MRS. LITA TRENT

MRS. BEULAH COOK

It is the purpose of the guidance department to help students adjust to life while in high school and after graduation. Through individual schedule conferences and personal interviews, each student's likes and talents are revealed. Mr. Rogers holds conferences with the sophomores and most of the juniors, arriving at a desirable schedule for each one. Mrs. Cook works primarily to place every senior after graduation. Her efforts to attain scholarships, secure advanced placement, and insure admission to accredited colleges are untiring. Findings show that over ninety per cent of the graduating seniors are placed in jobs, colleges, nursing and business schools, and vocational institutions. This is a tribute to the entire guidance department.

Tri - Hi - Y Hi - Y

Good Christian living in the school, home, and community is the objective of both the Tri-Hi-Y and the Hi-Y. With Mrs. Mary Haskin as adviser, the members of Tri-Hi-Y made favors for patients at Rochester Hospital and held their annual Christmas clothing drive and mum sale. Other events included a cake sale and Mother-Daughter banquet in April. This year's officers were Jean Yohe, President; Charlene Bates, Vice-President; Debbie Gressley, Secretary; and Nancy Ifft, Treasurer. The boys in the Hi-Y, aided by their sponsor Mr. Paul Taylor, engaged in many activities, notably sports. Sponsoring a holiday basketball tournament, a spring ping-pong tournament, and the Hi-Y basketball teams kept the members very busy. Officers for this year were Jerry Blistan, President; J. P. Crumrine, Vice-President; Larry Haddad, Secretary-Treasurer; and Gary Kolb, Chaplain.

Shingas

Producing a Shingas takes the combined talents of many people. Outlining the procedures, setting time tables and planning the general layout must be undertaken before the first picture is taken.

Since the Shingas is referred to as a "pictorial history of one year in Beaver High," it follows that the enclosed pictures must be carefully planned and attractively arranged. Then the copy must be written, using originality and thought. Combining these two phases really makes the book.

Other projects, however, are equally necessary. Selection of a cover which will be attractive, well designed and in general conformity with the contents is very important. The book is produced with the idea of reflecting the personality of the Senior Class and the entire school year. A dedicated sales staff must be chosen who will cover the Senior and Junior High as well as the community.

The job of the editors—to plan, to coordinate, and to manage the construction of the Shingas—plus the contractual work for the pictures, engraving, printing, and covers, result in the presentation of a book which will be acceptable to all.

The Bobcat's Echo

The Bobcat's Echo staff this year is predominantly composed of underclassmen. Through the efforts of the editor, Lynne Thomas, the feature editors, Randi Farkas and Ed Ritts, and the news editors, Chris Conklin and Gregg Johnson, under the capable direction of Mr. Bruce Webb, the paper this year has presented a totally revised, fresh, and thought-provoking image. The Echo stated its editorial policy in the first issue: "We want to improve the school, and the school's spirit, through the pages of the Echo. We wish to 'echo' the pride we feel in being members of the Beaver High student body, in the attitude of our writing . . ."

Mr. Robert C. Jones has spent his time making the Beaver High School Band one of the best anywhere, and it received its due recognition when it was invited to perform at the New York World's Fair on May 13, 1965. The band presents some of its repertoire during the half-time shows at each football game. This year, the band's mighty influence even spread to basketball, as a group of band members were chosen to play at home games. Other activities of the band are the annual spring concert—this year on May 16—and the band banquet. Again this year, senior members were honored with gray blazers.

We would like to thank Mr. Jones and our band for adding yet another reason—and this a large one—why we can be truly proud of our school.

1965 - Football

The 1964 football season was a very long and strenuous one, but one which ended with the Bobcats holding the M.A.C. co-championship for the second time in Beaver's football history. After our team's opening game was lost to Shaler, the boys began to function more as a team. To our dismay, however, they did not perform up to their capability until the second half of the Midland game, which ended in a 7-7 tie.

The Bobcats' best performances were at the Hopewell and Monaca games. The boys defeated Hopewell largely by sheer determination, and then beat Monaca in revenge for last year's defeat.

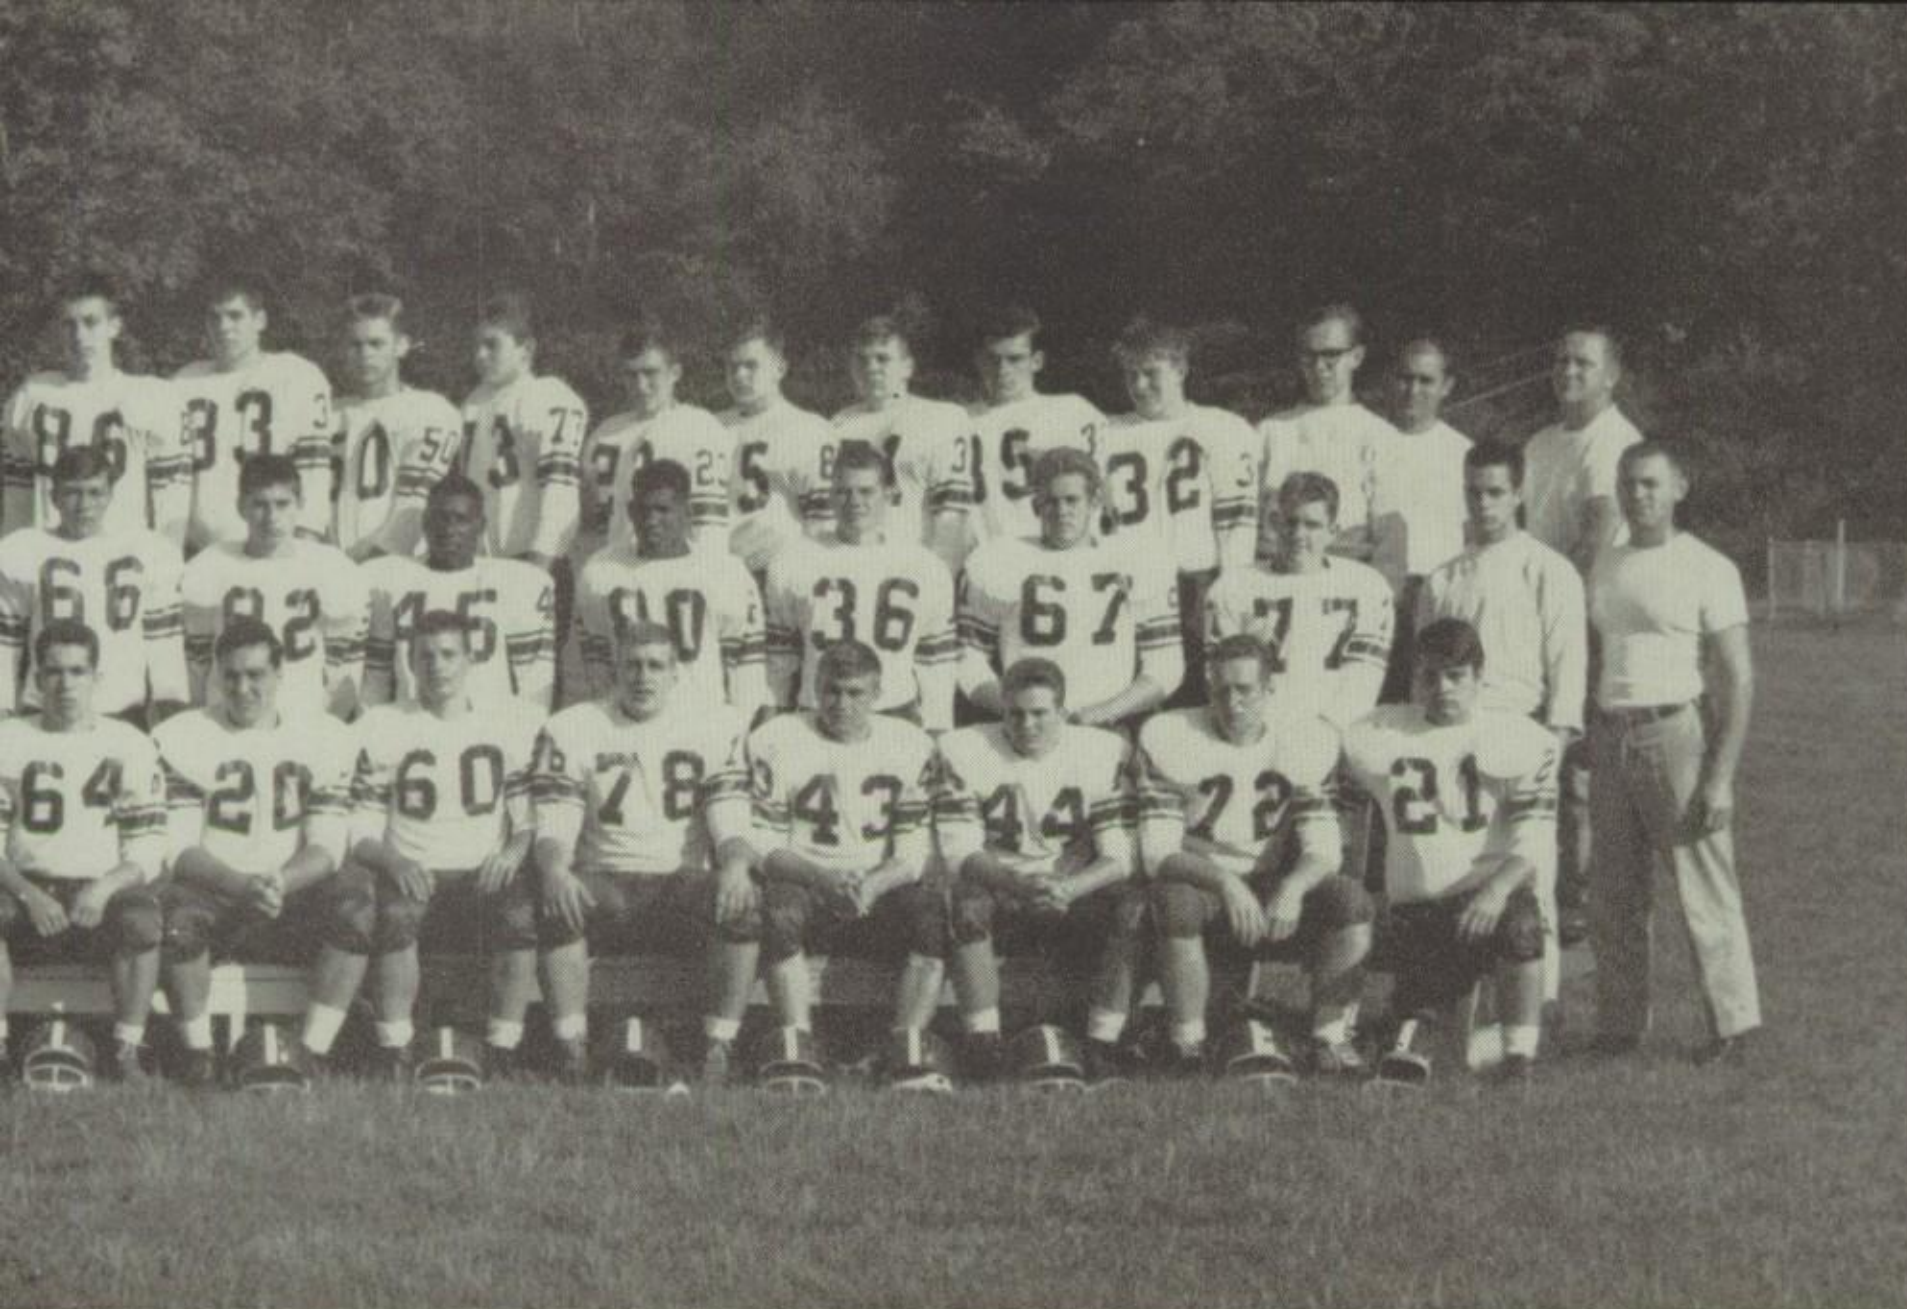

The traditional Old Oaken Bucket and the M.A.C. co-championship were resting on the outcome of the Rochester game. Happily, the Bobcats emerged victorious, and Beaver claimed the bucket for the fourth consecutive year.

Coaches: Mr. Kane and Mr. Carter

The 1964-65 Beaver Bobcat basketball team, coached by Mr. Robert E. Carter, had a difficult season. Handicapped by a lack of height, the team found the going rough against the taller opponents. Much must be said for the tremendous effort they showed against much taller teams, as they never gave up trying. Led by captain Bob Mateer and the other senior players, Jay Passavant, Bob King, Jack Rowse, Tom Saltarelli, Frank Krause, and Alvin Jefferson, our team played good basketball and was a credit to our school.

Under the capable coaching of Mr. John Haddad and Mr. Robert George, the baseball team ended their season with a record of eight wins and eight losses. A mere record of the scores does not indicate the true ability of the 1964 team as a whole, however. They showed promising hitting power and excellent fielding, but were a little weak in the pitching department. Their sense of fair play, as well as their record, was a credit to the school.

The 1964 track team of Beaver High consisted of thirty-six capable boys, coached by Mr. Cutri, Mr. Rogers, and Mr. Brower. Through their efforts, the weight division of the team was developed into one of the best in the country. We were proud of our Bobcats when they represented us at the Midland Invitational and won the tournament over Hopewell by a third of a point.

Kay Lewis and Paul Jones Awards

KAY LEWIS AWARD

The 1964 recipient of the Kay Lewis Award was Ned Russell, an excellent basketball player who served his team throughout his high school career. Through this sport he demonstrated his quality of sportsmanship, and by serving as Student Council President he proved himself a fine leader.

Kay Lewis was a member of the Beaver High School Class of 1947, and an excellent athlete both in high school and college. After his death, his Sigma Chi fraternity brothers set up this award, to be given to the senior boy who characterizes the highest quality of sportsmanship and leadership in varsity and intramural athletics.

The committee which selects the recipient consists of the various coaches, Mr. Paul Jones, Mr. Donald Higbee, Dr. William Charlesworth, and two senior boys who do not participate in athletics.

We, the Class of 1965, wish to congratulate you, Ned, the eleventh recipient of the Kay Lewis Award.

PAUL JONES AWARD

Dennis Hromika was the recipient of the Paul Jones Award for 1964. Denny was a valuable asset to our basketball and football teams, and served his school faithfully for three years.

The Paul Jones Award was inaugurated three years ago by the Basketeers, a group of parents of basketball players. The award is named for Mr. Paul Jones, the recreation director of the Beaver Area. Mr. Jones is often considered Beaver's "Mr. Sports," and it is an honor to receive an award in his name. The award is a partial scholarship to the college the recipient will attend.

Denny was the third winner of the Paul Jones Award, and he certainly showed all the qualifications for this award. Denny, the class of 1965 wishes to congratulate you.

Junior High Principal

As a man is judged by the company he keeps, so is a principal judged by the school he administers. The administration, faculty, student body, and parents are constantly observing his performance. They judge him on his control of day-to-day problems, his development of programs, his handling of situations, and more.

Mr. Calvin C. Williams gained, through his background as former Junior High Guidance Counselor, added insight to the problems and needs of young people. Now as Principal of the Junior High, he has the respect of the faculty and students, and the confidence of the administration and parents.

Our wish is for even greater success for Mr. Williams and all of the Junior High School.
